Steve,

I apologize, I made a slight mistake in the draft that I sent you this morning, meaning that I sent you the wrong one. Here is the correct SJR.

Thanks,

Eric Searing

~~DRAFT~~

Relating To: recognizing March 23, 2006 as Wisconsin Professional Logger, Wisconsin Forestry and Forest Products Industry Day.

Whereas, Wisconsin's forestry industry is the second largest industry sector in the state, with annual shipments valued at $28 billion, which is 2.5 times as much as either of our neighboring states of Michigan and Minnesota; and

Whereas, in 42 of Wisconsin's 72 counties, the forest products industry ranks 1st, 2nd, or 3rd as the largest employer; Wisconsin's forestry industry creates high paying jobs that are $38,000 annually; and

Whereas the forestry industry directly employs 100,000 workers with a payroll of over $3.5 billion; Additionally 160,000 workers are employed in occupations that support the forest industry; 26% of Wisconsin's workforce has some involvement in the forestry product industry; Wisconsin's forest product industry employs 1 of every 8 workers in manufacturing jobs; and

Whereas on average an acre of Wisconsin forest grows enough biomass to provide energy equivalent to one barrel of crude oil every year; the number of live trees over 10 feet tall on Wisconsin forestland increased by 1.4 billion between 1983 and 1996 translating to 1,700 live trees per Wisconsin resident; and

Whereas, at a time when significant forest lands are being lost in other states, Wisconsin's forest lands have increased by 640,000 acres since 1985; and

Whereas, Wisconsin manufacturers depend on Wisconsin forestry; Over 90% of the state's timber harvested is used by Wisconsin manufacturers; and

Whereas, Wisconsin is the #1 paper making state in the nation and has been for 50 years, and

Whereas, Wisconsin's forests support our valuable tourism and recreation economy, creating an additional $5.5 billion annually in forest-based recreation; Most recreational trails used for snowmobiling, hiking and horseback riding began as logging roads; and

Whereas, Wisconsin ranks second in the nation in forest products capital investments, with over $800 million annually, and

Whereas, logging is one of Wisconsin's oldest professions, pre-dating Wisconsin's statehood; Nearly all of today's logging contractors are independent, family-owned businesses and many are second and third generation owned; and

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That in recognition of the importance of Wisconsin's Professional Loggers, Forestry and Forestry products industry, the members of the Wisconsin legislature do hereby proclaim March 23rd, 2006 as Professional Logger Appreciation Day.
